ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

There is provided an update notifying apparatus which makes it possible to solve the problem that a notifying time lag occurs when a plurality of data files are frequently transmitted and the problem that the frequent transmission of data files makes it difficult to grasp contents of notification. Update of a data is detected. An update content which indicates a difference between the data before and after the update is stored. A plurality of update contents stored in the storing step is notified in a predetermined form.